CORPORATE POWER GRAB PUTS OHIO'S MIDDLE CLASS AT RISK

Corporate politicians are trying to blindside Ohio's middle class by pushing a radical amendment to the state constitution that will permanently tilt the balance of power toward corporations. It's backed by the same greedy CEOs who tried and failed to use Senate Bill 5 to attack workers' unions and eliminate our voice on the job.

They're calling it the "Ohio Workplace Freedom Amendment" or "right to work," but the real purpose of this amendment is to undermine the ability of employees and businesses to negotiate over the working conditions that are best for all of them—things like wages, benefits and protection from unfair treatment.

What's worse, it will hurt middle-class communities by making it harder for everyday heroes like teachers, firefighters, nurses and others we trust to push back against overcrowded schools, unsafe staffing levels and public service cuts that put our communities at risk.

We deserve a stronger middle class, not a system rigged against us.

PROTECT OHIO'S WORKING FAMILIES.

FREEDOM AMENDMENT'
